said, on 2 August 1950, that Locomotive [redacted] in Karlshorst (W 53/2 94) had been deactivated. The railroad shop inspector in Oberschoeneweide took over the materials and spare parts of this column. The value of this material, which is in very good condition, is estimated at 20,000 DM. Contrary to standard procedures, the material was taken over without accounting. Locomotives were not taken over. (3)

5. On 14 August 1950 [] in Karow (N 53/Z 96) that 70 reserve locomotives are to be parked at the Ruednitz (N 53/Z 97) railroad station north of Bernau (N 53/Z 96). They had previously been in the area of Berlin. The former marshaling yard in Ruednitz, which was destroyed during the war, was dismantled except for a few tracks. One of the remaining tracks was being connected with the main line to provide parking facilities for the reserve locomotives expected. On the same day [] two groups of five locomotives each (type 50 and 52) proceeding in the direction of Ruednitz. Only the first locomotive was under steam, the others, which were in a good condition were greased and oiled. (5)

25X1 7. On 20 August 1950 a long track of the Ruednitz marshaling yard, which was not dismantled will be used for the parking of the 70 reserve locomotives which were expected. Switches to connect this track with the main line have not yet been laid. The two groups of locomotives seen on 14 August 1950 were on a siding at the passenger station. The engines are in a very good condition. The connecting rods had been removed but fastened by wires to the sides of the boilers. Metal parts were wrapped with oil paper; valves, generator etc. were boarded up.
 The locomotives are guarded. There is a caboose with the locomotives.
 A sign board on to the first locomotive was lettered [] (15) 25X1
